ALLIES DEMAND HEAVY PENALTY

Will Ask Turkey to Pay Indemnity of $240,000,000.

ARMISTICE OF EIGHT DAYS

Signing of the Agreement Temporarily Delayed in Order to Give Representatives of All the Nations Involved an Opportunity to Sign—Although Terms Are Kept Secret It Is Said Original Demands Have Been Modified.

London, Dec. 2.—Telegraphing from Sofia the Daily Mail's correspondent asserts that the allies will demand from Turkey as a war indemnity £48,000,000 ($240,000,000). The correspondent at Constantinople of the same paper says: "After the armistice is signed an interval of a week will elapse for the appointment of plenipotentiaries to negotiate peace. The Bulgarians have shown considerable conciliation in the last few days. They are beginning to realize that they are too exhausted ever to break the Tchatalja lines. Also the allies are beginning to dispute among themselves, which is an additional reason for wishing to finish the war quickly."

Constantinople, Dec. 2.—The signing of the protocol of the armistice has been postponed until Tuesday in order to give an opportunity to the representatives of all the allies to sign.

The Greek delegate required forty-eight hours in which to receive the necessary authority from his government.

It is said that the duration of the armistice has been fixed at eight days, but that it will be prolonged another seven days if necessary.

It is rumored that in addition to the Bulgarian troops just landed at Deaghatz another large force of Greek troops from Saloniki is at sea and it is suggested that Greece may delay signing the armistice in order to enable these troops to arrive at their destination, which is supposed to be the Gulf of Saros, in Gallipoli.

It is understood that the armistice will extend for about a fortnight if necessary and cover the whole field of operations. The difficulty with respect to the beleaguered garrisons of Adrianople and Scutari is being surmounted by permitting them to receive daily rations during the armistice.

Although terms of the armistice will not be known until after the signatures are affixed nevertheless it is understood that they have been considerably reduced as compared with original demands of the league. They provide practically for the maintenance of the positions which the belligerents at present occupy and for revictualing the beleaguered towns.

Greek Delegates Hesitate.

It is believed that the latter point is also responsible for the hesitation on the part of the Greek delegates, because it implies raising the blockade with regard to foodstuffs. The matter, therefore, has been referred to Athens for decision.

The armistice provides that fortified places may be provisioned and that the siege of Turkish ports and islands is to be temporarily considered as raised.

In event of a breakdown in peace negotiations the contracting parties must give forty-eight hours' notice before resuming hostilities.

The plenipotentiaries appear to have been concerned so far solely in arranging the armistice, but a peace conference is expected to commence immediately, probably at Sofia, and Bulgaria already has shown greater forbearance than has been looked for in waiving her demand for the surrender of Adrianople. While at the same time Turkey cannot hope to obtain better conditions by continuing the struggle a strong feeling is entertained that the last shot in the war will have been fired when the armistice is signed.

There is little doubt, however, that the peace negotiations will be difficult and protracted. The question of holding a European ambassadorial conference still is undecided, but the international situation is much more peaceful. The Servian government denies the reported preparations for a conflict with Austria, while the Austrian press is much less bellicose.

Impeachment Trial of Judge Archbald Comes Up in Senate, Many Investigating Committees Must Conclude Work and Report and Several New Probes May Be Commenced.

Washington, Dec. 2.—The expiring Sixty-second congress assembled at noon for its final work of legislation. In the brief period remaining before constitutional limitations bring it to an end and turn many of its members back into private life fifteen appropriation bills, carrying over $1,000,000,000 for the support of the government, must be passed; the impeachment of Judge Archbald of the commerce court must be tried in the senate; many investigating committees must conclude inquiries and make their reports and scores of legislative matters must be disposed of.

Several new inquiries are in prospect in the house for the short session. The judiciary committee will begin an inquiry into anti-trust problems about Christmas time with the hope that some amendments to the anti-trust law can be recommended before congress adjourns. Either the judiciary committee or the "money trust" committee will also be asked, it is believed, to investigate the New England railroad situation, to determine what relations, if any, exist between the Grand Trunk and the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroads.

The "money trust" investigation is to continue this month and an effort will be made to procure at least a partial report before the session ends.

Many Other Investigations.

Many other investigations, including that into the so called "shipping trust," and into the awarding of contracts for army and navy shoes, must be concluded before March 4.

Throughout the session will run the preparatory work for the extra session to be called soon after President Elect Wilson takes office March 4.

Committees, pursuant to this, will thresh out questions of tariff, currency and anti-trust legislation in the effort to have Democratic policies shaped and Democratic plans made before the new administration comes into power.

It is assured, say the legislative leaders, that there will be no tariff legislation this winter. Neither is it expected that the currency or anti-trust problems will receive much attention, the principal work of the session being confined to preparation for the Democratic administration and the enactment of some of the more important bills pending in both houses.

Important measures to receive attention include the bill for a department of labor which Senator Borah said would be presented for immediate action; the Sheppard-Kenyon bill, preventing shipments of liquor into "dry" states; the Page bill, to give federal aid to the vocational and agricultural schools, and the resolution for a constitutional amendment limiting a president to a single term of six years. These measures have all been debated before both houses and have reached the point where action of some kind upon them is expected.

There is little doubt, however, that the peace negotiations will be difficult and protracted. The question of holding a European ambassadorial conference still is undecided, but the international situation is much more peaceful. The Servian government denies the reported preparations for a conflict with Austria, while the Austrian press is much less bellicose.

JUDGE ARCHBALD.

Impeachment Trial Will Begin in Senate Tuesday.

ARCHBALD TRIAL TUESDAY

Formal Arguments in Impeachment Case Wednesday.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Judge Robert W. Archbald of the United States commerce court will appear before the senate on Tuesday to stand trial under articles of impeachment found against him by the house of representatives. The managers for the house in the impeachment proceedings, who held a long conference Saturday with Senator Bacon and Mr. Archbald's attorneys, are to decide at a meeting what witnesses, if any, can be dropped out of the case because their testimony bears on facts that have been admitted by Judge Archbald.

The senate will convene on Tuesday as the court of impeachment, with Senator Bacon presiding. The house prosecutors and Judge Archbald's attorneys will be ready at that time to proceed with the trial, it is understood, but formal arguments are not expected before Wednesday.

ABSCONDING CASHIER ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Swallows Drug He Secured as Headache Remedy.

West Point, Ga., Dec. 2.—H. W. Parker, absconding bank cashier of Winnebago, Minn., who confessed to a shortage in his accounts of $17,000, attempted to commit suicide in a West Point jail. The prisoner swallowed twenty-five grains of a drug he procured as a headache remedy. He finally was revived by physicians.

After writing a confession of his guilt, in which he admitted marrying Miss Florence Bauer of Cleveland, O., despite the fact that he has a wife and three children in Winnebago, Parker became morose. He refused to see any visitors, and complained of severe headache.

A messenger was sent for headache tablets. A few hours after receiving the medicine Parker swallowed the entire twenty-five grains. One of the turnkeys discovered his condition and summoned physicians, who succeeded in reviving the banker.

When he became conscious Parker begged the doctors to save his life.

She imagined her husband had bitten her and died in agony.

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 2.—The steamer River Meander, New York for Naples, has been abandoned at sea and probably has foundered. Her captain and crew of thirty men were rescued by the steamer Ikal, which entered Halifax harbor.

The River Meander left New York Nov. 26. She is a British steamer of 3,888 tons and was formerly named The Bardistan. Captain McGregor commanded the vessel.

LAST SESSION'S JOY AND REGRET

All Spectators' Seats For Big Capitol Show Are Taken.

GREETING AND GOODBY TIME.

No Business For the Two Houses on the First Day, Which Adjourn After Having Been Informed of Vice President Sherman's Death, but a Great Crowd Witnessed These Proceedings.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Dec. 2.—[Special.]—All the available space for onlookers and sightseers is taken in the capitol on the opening day of a session of congress, no matter whether it be the beginning of a regular session or simply the beginning of the last three months of a congressional term. There is something fascinating about the beginning of a new session of congress, and there are none of the habits of the capitol who will miss it.

Greetings and Goodby.

The assembling of the members for the last session of the Sixty-second congress has many elements of joy and sadness. There is joy among men who have been successful and because their party has been successful, but there are also heartaches on account of the loss of men who have been so long in the public service. It is a day of greetings and goodby.

There are fun and good nature, rivalry and repartee, and it is a good trait of the true American spirit that every defeated man, almost without exception, is making the best of it. He has to stand the jokes and the condolences—which are often worse—of his fellow men.

The grim face of Champ Clark is sad as he mounts the speaker's dais. He has lost the grand prize, of course, but the fellow who is not even coming back to congress thinks Champ is pretty lucky in being sure of another term in the house and the speakership as well. The fellows who are clear down and out think that a man in Champ's place is not so very badly off. It helps them to make the best of it to see how hard Champ has been hit.

All in the Preliminaries.

All interest in the assembling of the present session is in the preliminaries, in the greetings and the jovial good-fellowship displayed. As soon as the gavel falls which call the two houses together the members must return to the realization that death has postponed all business. No business is transacted on the first day. The two houses are informed of the death of the vice president and of different members who were with them when they adjourned last summer. It does not take long to attend to this business, although it is necessary to pass the usual formal resolutions of notification in order to start the session on its business properly.

The rolls in both houses are called and the members respond to their names. Then with the death announcements the first day comes to an end. Everything is just as anticipated, but everybody comes just the same, and will come on the first day of every session just as they have done since there was a capitol.

Feeling of Exultation.

One cannot but detect the feeling of exultation which the Democrats feel on the first day of the session in the fact that they have won a great victory and are soon to have control of the government. It means a great deal to them, more particularly those who have never been in congress when the Democrats controlled everything. With the exception of about three men in the house and a like number in the senate, there are no members of the Democratic party who were in congress when the Democrats had control of every branch of the federal government, which will be the case in a very few months. No wonder they feel pretty good on their return from the polling places.

Their Last Session.

Two men attracted more than the usual interest in the house as the members met. They were Uncle Joe Cannon and John Dalzell. They are two veterans who are entering upon the last session they will be in congress unless they should again be returned two years hence. Cannon has had thirty-eight years' service in the house, beginning March 4, 1873, with two years' intermission. Dalzell has had twenty-six years' continuous service.

Three Twenty-Year Veterans.

Twenty years ago the Republicans elected many men who seemed destined to serve as long as they lived. There was a large number that survived campaign after campaign, but now only three are left—Barthold of Missouri, Cooper of Wisconsin and Gillett of Massachusetts. They will be members of the next congress.

"Explanation Days."

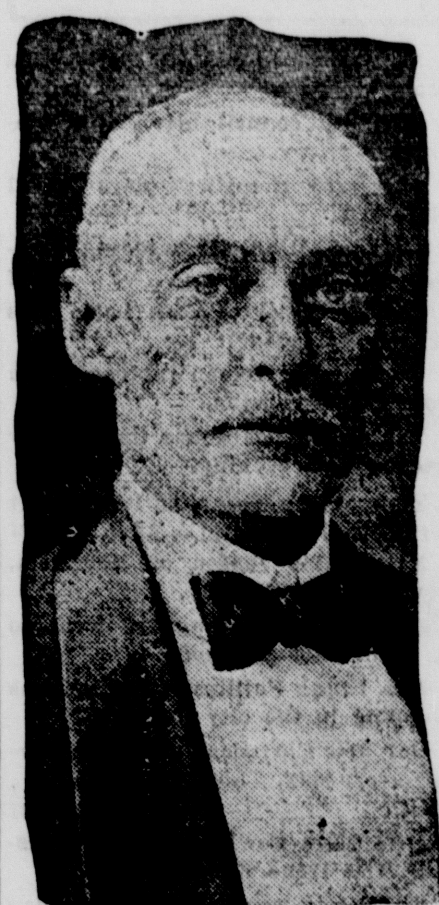

The great burden of the re-elected member is that he must listen to the explanations of the defeated for a week or ten days. The fellow who could not come back thinks that every man he meets should understand exactly what happened and why he will not be a member of the next congress. Fortunately the primary elections avoided the necessity of such explanations in many cases.

THOUSANDS WITNESS DEATH OF AERONAUT

Richard Frayne Falls Two Thousand Feet at Fair.

Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 2.—Richard Frayne, an aeronaut, fell 2,000 feet here and was instantly killed. Three thousand people witnessed the accident.

The aeronaut was thrown from his seat in the parachute immediately after he cut loose from the balloon. His body landed in the driveway of the Evergreen cemetery near here. Every bone in his body was broken.

With Jack Crosby, his companion, Frayne ascended at the Tri-County fair here. Both men had individual parachutes attached to the balloon.

Crosby was first to sever his parachute from the balloon. A moment later he saw Frayne's body dash past him. Frayne's parachute opened successfully, but it is believed he failed to place his hands in the safety wristles, the momentary halting of descent upon the opening of the parachute hurling him from his seat.

Frayne's home was Lowell, Mass. He was twenty-five years old and unmarried.

WON'T RECALL ALEXANDER

Los Angeles "Alliance" Abandons Movement to Oust Mayor.

Los Angeles, Dec. 2.—The movement started last week to bring about the recall of Mayor George Alexander has been abandoned.

Announcement that no further signatures would be procured to the recall petition was made within twenty-four hours after Fred M. C. Choate, discharged deputy city prosecutor, withdrew as secretary of the Citizens' Good Government alliance. The alliance was said to have been an organization of prominent citizens who wanted a new mayor, but apparently it went out of existence when Choate quit it.

The explanation for discontinuance of the movement was that there was insufficient support, although it was asserted that 5,000 signatures had been obtained.

Fargo, N. D., Dec. 2.—Deputy sheriffs returned from Unity, Wis., with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schuette, charged with the murder of their four-months-old baby in a Fargo hotel Nov. 4. They have made a complete confession, authorities say, Mr. Schuette assuming all blame.

The child was strangled to death. The couple registered at the hotel at 9 o'clock and left an hour later on an eastbound Great Northern train. Their arrest was the result of an investigation by Undertaker Wasm. Schuette's excuse is simply that he doesn't like children, say the authorities.

Bulgarians Are Accused of Committing Atrocities.

AWFUL RESULT OF SAVAGERY

Enormous Amount of Killing Takes Place in the Avrethissar District of Macedonia, Where Scarcely a Single Moslem Has Been Left Alive. Mohammedan Bands Also Taking Part in Brutal Butchery.

London, Dec. 2.—A Saloniki dispatch to the Times says:

"Macedonia is being drenched with blood as the result of atrocities committed by Bulgarian irregulars. It is lamentable that responsibility for so many of these atrocities lies at the door of a Christian race.

"The Bulgars, needing the regulars in Thrace, practically left Macedonia in the care of the irregulars. Besides the massacres already reported at Kavala and Serres there has been an enormous amount of killing in the district of Avrethissar, where scarcely a single Moslem has been left alive.

"Mohammedan bands are adding their quota to the general destruction. Whole villages have been depopulated as the result of their savagery. Turco-Albanian bands are also taking part.

"The Servians have a better record. Apart from the slaughter of a number of Moslems, principally by irregulars at Uskup, little complaint has been made against them."

DISARMAMENT IN SALONIKI

Athens, Dec. 2.—The military governor of Saloniki, to preserve order effectually, has disarmed the whole population without distinction of race or religion.

An official message from Chios, in the Aegean sea, says the Greek army is proceeding slowly but surely. The Turkish troops are surrounded and the Greeks have occupied all the fortified positions. HEAVY PENALTY

ARMISTICE OF EIGHT DAYS

Signing of the Agreement Temporarily Delayed in Order to Give Representatives of All the Nations Involved an Opportunity to Sign—Although Terms Are Kept Secret It Is Said Original Demands Have Been Modified.

London, Dec. 2.—Telegraphing from Sofia the Daily Mail's correspondent asserts that the allies will demand from Turkey as a war indemnity £48,000,000 ($240,000,000). The correspondent at Constantinople of the same paper says: "After the armistice is signed an interval of a week will elapse for the appointment of plenipotentiaries to negotiate peace. The Bulgarians have shown considerable conciliation in the last few days. They are beginning to realize that they are too exhausted ever to break the Tchatalja lines. Also the allies are beginning to dispute among themselves, which is an additional reason for wishing to finish the war quickly."

Constantinople, Dec. 2.—The signing of the protocol of the armistice has been postponed until Tuesday in order to give an opportunity to the representatives of all the allies to sign.

The Greek delegate required forty-eight hours in which to receive the necessary authority from his government.

It is said that the duration of the armistice has been fixed at eight days, but that it will be prolonged another seven days if necessary.

It is rumored that in addition to the Bulgarian troops just landed at Deaghat another large force of Greek troops from Saloniki is at sea and it is suggested that Greece may delay signing the armistice in order to enable these troops to arrive at their destination, which is supposed to be the Gulf of Saros, in Gallipoli.

It is understood that the armistice will extend for about a fortnight if necessary and cover the whole field of operations. The difficulty with respect to the beleaguered garrisons of Adrianople and Scutari is being surmounted by permitting them to receive daily rations during the armistice.

Although terms of the armistice will not be known until after the signatures are affixed nevertheless it is understood that they have been considerably reduced as compared with original demands of the league. They provide practically for the maintenance of the positions which the belligerents at present occupy and for revictualing the beleaguered towns.

Greek Delegates Hesitate.

It is believed that the latter point is also responsible for the hesitation on the part of the Greek delegates, because it implies raising the blockade with regard to foodstuffs. The matter, therefore, has been referred to Athens for decision.

The armistice provides that fortified places may be provisioned and that the siege of Turkish ports and islands is to be temporarily considered as raised.

In event of a breakdown in peace negotiations the contracting parties must give forty-eight hours' notice before resuming hostilities.

The plenipotentiaries appear to have been concerned so far solely in arranging the armistice, but a peace conference is expected to commence immediately, probably at Sofia, and Bulgaria already has shown greater forbearance than has been looked for in waiving her demand for the surrender of Adrianople. While at the same time Turkey cannot hope to obtain better conditions by continuing the struggle a strong feeling is entertained that the last shot in the war will have been fired when the armistice is signed.

There is little doubt, however, that the peace negotiations will be difficult and protracted. The question of holding a European ambassadorial conference still is undecided, but the international situation is much more peaceful. The Serbian government denies the reported preparations for a conflict with Austria, while the Austrian press is much less bellicose.

Several new inquiries are in prospect in the house for the short session. The judiciary committee will begin an inquiry into anti-trust problems about Christmas time with the hope that some amendments to the anti-trust law can be recommended before congress adjourns. Either the judiciary committee or the "money trust" committee will also be asked, it is believed, to investigate the New England railroad situation, to determine what relations, if any, exist between the Grand Trunk and the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroads.

The "money trust" investigation is to continue this month and an effort will be made to procure at least a partial report before the session ends.

Many Other Investigations.

Many other investigations, including that into the so called "shipping trust," and into the awarding of contracts for army and navy shoes, must be concluded before March 4.

Throughout the session will run the preparatory work for the extra session to be called soon after President Elect Wilson takes office March 4. Committees, pursuant to this, will thresh out questions of tariff, currency and anti-trust legislation in the effort to have Democratic policies shaped and Democratic plans made before the new administration comes into power.

It is assured, say the legislative leaders, that there will be no tariff legislation this winter. Neither is it expected that the currency or anti-trust problems will receive much attention, the principal work of the session being confined to preparation for the Democratic administration and the enactment of some of the more important bills pending in both houses.

Important measures to receive attention include the bill for a department of labor which Senator Borah said would be presented for immediate action; the Sheppard-Kenyon bill, preventing shipments of liquor into "dry" states; the Page bill, to give federal aid to the vocational and agricultural schools; and the resolution for a constitutional amendment limiting a president to a single term of six years. These measures have all been debated before both houses and have reached the point where action of some kind upon them is expected.

DEATH JOINS SKATING PARTY

Three Drowned When Ice on Pennsylvania Lake Breaks.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 2.—Three persons were drowned and several other members of a family skating party had narrow escapes from death when they broke through the ice on Heart Lake in Northern Lackawanna county. The dead are Mrs. Adelbert Reynolds, thirty years old; her son, whose name has not been learned, and Ross Reynolds, ten years, a nephew.

The party, which included Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds, their children and several other young relatives, was enjoying the sport on the lake when Ross Reynolds skated on thin ice and plunged into the water. Mrs. Reynolds endeavored to pull him out and she, too, broke through the ice. The other members of the party attempted to rescue the woman and her nephew and all fell into the icy water.

Baudette, Minn., Dec. 2.—Amos Anns and Michael Cary, each about twenty-nine years old, were drowned in the Rainy river while trying to cross the stream in an old skiff from Gleamans to Clementson.

When about midstream the boat sprang a leak in the ice floes, sinking beneath the men. Their cries were heard, but they were drowned before aid reached them.

JUDGE ARCHBALD.

Impeachment Trial Will Begin in Senate Tuesday.

ARCHBALD TRIAL TUESDAY

Formal Arguments in Impeachment Case Wednesday.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Judge Robert W. Archbald of the United States commerce court will appear before the senate on Tuesday to stand trial under articles of impeachment found against him by the house of representatives. The managers for the house in the impeachment proceedings, who held a long conference Saturday with Senator Bacon and Mr. Archbald's attorneys, are to decide at a meeting what witnesses, if any, can be dropped out of the case because their testimony bears on facts that have been admitted by Judge Archbald.

The senate will convene on Tuesday as the court of impeachment, with Senator Bacon presiding. The house prosecutors and Judge Archbald's attorneys will be ready at that time to proceed with the trial, it is understood, but formal arguments are not expected before Wednesday.

ABSCONDING CASHIER
ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Swallows Drug He Secured as Headache Remedy.

West Point, Ga., Dec. 2.—H. W. Parker, absconding bank cashier of Winnebago, Minn., who confessed to a shortage in his accounts of $17,000, attempted to commit suicide in the West Point jail. The prisoner swallowed twenty-five grains of a drug he procured as a headache remedy. He finally was revived by physicians.

After writing a confession of his guilt, in which he admitted marrying Miss Florence Bauer of Cleveland, O., despite the fact that he has a wife and three children in Winnebago, Parker became morose. He refused to see any visitors, and complained of severe headache.

A messenger was sent for headache tablets. A few hours after receiving the medicine Parker swallowed the entire twenty-five grains. One of the turnkeys discovered his condition and summoned physicians, who succeeded in reviving the banker.

When he became conscious Parker begged the doctors to save his life.

HUSBAND'S ILLNESS KILLS HER

Woman Contracts Symptoms of Rabies.

Milwaukee, Dec. 2.—After suffering for weeks from shock caused by nursing her husband, who was suffering from hydrophobia, which finally caused his death, Mrs. Nestor, twenty-eight years old, died in a Milwaukee hospital.

A year ago the husband was bitten by a pet dog and a few months later developed rabies. When he died she left the bedside a nervous wreck and soon after developed symptoms similar to those of her husband's.

She imagined her husband had bitten her and died in agony.

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 2.—The steamer River Meander, New York for Naples, has been abandoned at sea and probably has foundered. Her captain and crew of thirty men were rescued by the steamer Ikal, which entered Halifax harbor.

The River Meander left New York Nov. 26. She is a British steamer of 3,388 tons and was formerly named The Bardistan. Captain McGregor commanded the vessel.

LAST SESSION'S
JOY AND REGRET

All Spectators' Seats For Big Capitol Show Are Taken.

GREETING AND GOODBY TIME.

No Business For the Two Houses on the First Day, Which Adjourn After Having Been Informed of Vice President Sherman's Death, but a Great Crowd Witnesses These Proceedings.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Dec. 2.—[Special.]—All the available space for onlookers and sightseers is taken in the capitol on the opening day of a session of congress, no matter whether it be the beginning of a regular session or simply the beginning of a new session of congress, and there are none of the habits of the capitol who will miss it.

Greetings and Goodby.

The assembling of the members for the last session of the Sixty-second congress has many elements of joy and sadness. There is joy among men who have been successful and because their party has been successful, but there are also heartaches on account of the loss of men who have been so long in the public service. It is a day of greetings and goodby.

Making the Best of It.

There are fun and good nature, raillery and repartee, and it is a good trait of the true American spirit that every defeated man, almost without exception, is making the best of it. He has to stand the jokes and the condolences—which are often worse—of his fellow men.

The grim face of Champ Clark is said as he mounts the speaker's dais. He has lost the grand prize, of course, but the fellow who is not even coming back to congress thinks Champ is pretty lucky in being sure of another term in the house and the speakership as well. The fellows who are clear down and out think that a man in Champ's place is not so very badly off. It helps them to make the best of it to see how hard Champ has been hit.

All in the Preliminaries.

All interest in the assembling of the present session is in the preliminaries. In the greetings and the jovial good-fellowship displayed. As soon as the gavels fall which call the two houses together the members must return to the realization that death has postponed all business. No business is transacted on the first day. The two houses are informed of the death of the vice president and of different members who were with them when they adjourned last summer. It does not take long to attend to this business, although it is necessary to pass the usual formal resolutions of notification in order to start the session on its business properly.

The rolls in both houses are called and the members respond to their names. Then with the death announcements the first day comes to an end. Everything is just as anticipated, but everybody comes just the same, and will come on the first day of every session just as they have done since there was a capitol.

Feeling of Exultation.

One cannot but detect the feeling of exultation which the Democrats feel on the first day of the session in the fact that they have won a great victory and are soon to have control of the government. It means a great deal to them, more particularly those who have never been in congress when the Democrats controlled everything. With the exception of about three men in the house and a like number in the senate, there are no members of the Democratic party who were in congress when the Democrats had control of every branch of the federal government, which will be the case in a very few months. No wonder they feel pretty good on their return from the polling places.

Their Last Session.

Two men attracted more than the usual interest in the house as the members met. They were Uncle Joe Cannon and John Dalzell. They are two veterans who are entering upon the last session they will be in congress unless they should again be returned two years hence. Cannon has had thirty-eight years' service in the house, beginning March 4, 1873, with two years' intermission. Dalzell has had twenty-five years' continuous service.

Three Twenty-Year Veterans.

Twenty years ago the Republicans elected many men who seemed destined to serve as long as they lived. There was a large number that survived campaign after campaign, but now only three are left—Barthold of Missouri, Cooper of Wisconsin and Gillett of Massachusetts. They will be members of the next congress.

"Explanation Days."

The great burden of the re-elected member is that he must listen to the explanations of the defeated for a week or ten days. The fellow who could not come back thinks that every man he meets should understand exactly what happened and why he will not be a member of the next congress. Fortunately the primary elections avoided the necessity of such explanations in many cases.

THOUSANDS WITNESS
DEATH OF AERONAUT

Richard Frayne Falls Two Thousand Feet at Fair.

Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 2.—Richard Frayne, an aeronaut, fell 2,000 feet here and was instantly killed. Three thousand people witnessed the accident.

The aeronaut was thrown from his seat in the parachute immediately after he cut loose from the balloon. His body landed in the driveway of the Evergreen cemetery near here. Every bone in his body was broken.

With Jack Crosby, his companion, Frayne ascended at the Tri-County fair here. Both men had individual parachutes attached to the balloon. Crosby was first to sever his parachute from the balloon. A moment later he saw Frayne's body dash past him. Frayne's parachute opened successfully, but it is believed he failed to place his hands in the safety wristlets, the momentary halting of descent upon the opening of the parachute hurling him from his seat.

Frayne's home was at Lowell, Mass. He was twenty-five years old and unmarried.

WON'T RECALL ALEXANDER

Los Angeles "Alliance" Abandons Movement to Oust Mayor.

Los Angeles, Dec. 2.—The movement started last week to bring about the recall of Mayor George Alexander has been abandoned.

Announcement that no further signatures would be procured to the recall petition was made within twenty-four hours after Fred M. C. Choate, discharged deputy city prosecutor, withdrew as secretary of the Citizens' Good Government alliance. The alliance was said to have been an organization of prominent citizens who wanted a new mayor, but apparently it went out of existence when Choate quit it.

The explanation for discontinuance of the movement was that there was insufficient support, although it was asserted that 5,000 signatures had been obtained.

PEACE SUNDAY IS DEC. 15

In accordance with a custom which has prevailed for more than twenty years churches and Sunday schools throughout the country will on that day be called upon to emphasize the barbarities of war and the growing movements toward a worldwide international peace.

HELD FOR SLAYING BABY

Parents Returned to Fargo, Where Man Assumes Blame.

Fargo, N. D., Dec. 2.—Deputy sheriffs returned from Unity, Wis., with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schuette, charged with the murder of their four-months-old baby in a Fargo hotel Nov. 4. They have made a complete confession, authorities say, Mr. Schuette assuming all blame.

The child was strangled to death. The couple registered at the hotel at 9 o'clock and left an hour later on an eastbound Great Northern train. Their arrest was the result of an investigation by Undertaker Wasm. Schuette's excuse is simply that he doesn't like children, say the authorities.

Bulgarians Are Accused of Committing Atrocities.

AWFUL RESULT OF SAVAGERY

Enormous Amount of Killing Takes Place in the Avrethiasar District of Macedonia, Where Scarcely a Single Moslem Has Been Left Alive. Mohammedan Bands Also Taking Part in Brutal Butchery.

London, Dec. 2.—A Saloniki dispatch to the Times says:

"Macedonia is being drenched with blood as the result of atrocities committed by Bulgarian irregulars. It is lamentable that responsibility for so many of these atrocities lies at the door of a Christian race."

"The Bulgars, needing the regulars in Thrace, practically left Macedonia in the care of the irregulars. Besides the massacres already reported at Kavala and Serres there has been an enormous amount of killing in the district of Avrethiasar, where scarcely a single Moslem has been left alive."

"Mohammedan bands are adding their quota to the general destruction. Whole villages have been depopulated as the result of their savagery. Turco-Albanian bands are also taking part."

"The Servians have a better record. Apart from the slaughter of a number of Moslems, principally by irregulars at Uskup, little complaint has been made against them."

DISARMAMENT IN SALONIKI

Whole Population Relieved of Weapons to Preserve Order.

Athens, Dec. 2.—The military governor of Saloniki, to preserve order effectually, has disarmed the whole population without distinction of race or religion.

An official message from Chios, in the Aegean sea, says the Greek army is proceeding slowly but surely. The Turkish troops are surrounded and the Greeks have occupied all the fortified positions. A Greek warship has bombarded and demolished the Hagia-pateres monastery which the Turks were using as a storehouse.

A deputation from the island of Samos, representing the provisional government, has arrived here and presented to the premier a memorial in favor of union with Greece. M. Venizelos responded in a noncommittal way on account of the island's international position.

TENSION LOOSENS IN VIENNA

Majority of Newspapers View Situation More Hopefully.

Vienna, Dec. 2.—A majority of the Vienna newspapers view the situation more hopefully, chiefly on account of the report that Russia has given assurances to Austria that she does not intend to support all of Serbia's ambitions. Most of the journals think the climax of the crisis is past, but there is no sign that Serbia has abandoned her attitude on the question of an Adriatic port.

The Neue Freie Presse asserts that during the present negotiations Serbia demanded from Turkey the cession of the whole Albanian coast from Montenegro to Durazzo, which the Turkish delegates refused.

SERBIA DENIES MOBILIZATION

Says Everything Possible Is Being Done to Avoid Conflict.

Belgrade, Dec. 2.—An official statement denies reports that Serbia is concentrating troops on the northern frontier and fortifying Belgrade and other towns. The statement says:

"The government has not sent, and is not sending, a single soldier to the northern frontier. It is fortifying neither Belgrade nor any other town on the Danube or Save, as any one can convince him with his own eyes. On the contrary the government is doing everything possible to avoid a superfluous conflict."

MAY SIGN TREATY AT SOFIA

Bulgarian Capital Likely Place of Conducting Negotiations.

Sofia, Dec. 2.—The council of ministers is holding a protracted session at Sofia and government circles are optimistic and hope for a favorable report. The Bulgarians are reported to have proposed that the peace negotiations be held in Sofia and it is not anticipated that the Turks will object.

The Mir says that the Karagatch barracks, near Adrianople, was set on fire by Bulgarian shells, the flames spreading to many other buildings in that section.

MANY HUNTING ACCIDENTS

Ninety-three Persons Killed and Fifty-two Injured.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—The hunting season, which closed Nov. 30, was not as deadly as the season of 1911. The dead and injured number 93 and 52, respectively, as against 190 and 37, respectively, for 1911. In 1910, the deadliest year of which there is record, 113 persons lost their lives while hunting game.

The list of accidents in Michigan is appalling, twenty-five persons having been killed and eighteen injured.

It is now safe to go into the woods,
the hunting season closed by limitation on Saturday and the vast army of red coated rifle bearers have returned to their homes—those of them
who were lucky enough not to be mistaken for a deer or a red squirrel.

The bullmoosers of Hennepin county are endeavoring to keep their organization alive and they are busy denouncing LaFollette as the arch
enemy of progressivism. LaFollette will probably be one of the leading candidates for the presidency in 1916
on the republican ticket, but not if
the third party advocates of Minnesota can prevent it, for without a
third party there will be no pay roll
for many of those who are loudest
in their clamor. That the LaFollette boom has started is evinced by the following news item: "Influential republicans in Cleveland, Ohio, have started a movement to make Robert M. LaFollette the republican nominee in 1916. Republicans who were prominent in support of Taft
and Roosevelt are back of the movement."

A Little Falls citizen has secured
a patent on a lawn mower that cuts with a sickle and can be operated on long grass and weeds as well as on well kept lawn. Now, if some one will invent a method whereby the use of
this machine, or one like it, on well kept lawns as well as on all those that are not now well kept, can be enforced the appearance of almost every city would be benefitted. The lawn mower and the snow shovel
each need considerable push at the respective seasons of the year to
make the premises look respectable and to give the idea to visitors within our gates that the city is inhabited by people who have some civic pride. It is some time yet before you will have to cut your lawn again,
but the snow shovel season is about
due and pedestrians like a clean
walk.

Minneapolis has awakened to the
fact that home merchants are entitled to the trade of the people of the city in which they live, and cite
as some of the reasons why people should trade at home the fact that outside concern pay no local taxes,
bear no local burdens, are in no
sense a part of the civic life and bear none of its responsibilities, and
in "nine cases out of ten the merchandise these concerns show can be duplicated or bettered both in price
and attractiveness by our local merchants who through their payrolls
and general contributions to the activities of Minneapolis are clearly entitled to first consideration." Granted, and the same application is one that the citizens of Brainerd should consider, if the good of the city is uppermost in their minds. Enough money is sent out of this city every month which if spent with the merchants of Brainerd would double the output of some of our leading mercantile institutions and would add

much to the prosperity of the city.
And this, too, on the assumption that
you can get just as good for the same
money right here at home.

There was an indignation meeting at the depot Saturday afternoon when people who wished to take the M. & I. passenger were blocked by a freight train and forced to wait and watch their train depart.

The library will be open every afternoon this week from 2 to 4 P.
M. commencing Tuesday, but with the exception of Friday and will continue these hours until such time as the lights are turned on again.

"I would like to see this subject written up by men of all professions, trades and callings. 'Problems of the Laboring Man,' said Rev. Father

O'Mahoney." Efforts will be made to get a symposium on the subject.

The Boosters club, although not completely organized and possessing but temporary officers, is figuring on sending members to the Northern Minnesota Development association meeting at Crookston, December 5 and 6.

The Travel class will meet with Mrs. R. R. Wise at the parlors of the Ransford hotel this evening.
Mrs. W. J. Lowrie will read a paper on "The London of Charles Dickens."

"Westminster Abbey."

John D. Campbell, a blacksmith of the Northern Pacific railway coach

Robert Gibby, a young English miner who had been afflicted with paralysis or what is termed the "bends," contracted while mining under air pressure, died at a local hospital Saturday after an illness of seven months. He had relatives in England.

The Ladies' Aid society of the First Congregational church will give a supper in the church parlors Wednesday evening, Dec. 4th. The menu is: Fresh roast ham, escalloped potatoes, cold slaw, corn pudding, pickles, jelly, white bread, brown bread, cake, coffee, home made candies for sale.

Hiram Mooers, aged 30, died this morning at 918 Fir street where he boarded. He had been failing in health the last three years. The deceased was well known in Brainerd, having been a clerk of Brockway & Parker for years and also served as express messenger on the railway. A brother and sister have been notified of the death and are expected in Brainerd tomorrow.

cordially requested to assemble on the

The men will meet at 7:00 Wednes-

The St. Cloud football team had its picture in the Sunday Duluth News-brilliant record during the season that has just closed, running up 163 points against 6 for their opponents.

They were scored upon only by Central high of Minneapolis, and defeated the Mechanic Arts high school of St. Paul by a score of 45 to 0 and the fast Brainerd team, the article states, by a score of 40 to 0. Six of the squad are seniors, among them
Captain Larson, Coach Milton and Assistant Coach Fehr.

on the southwest corner of South
Sixth and Maple streets, measuring 20 by 30 feet in size and a story in

He held the opinion that any man his belief he obtained poison.

After taking a small quantity he sat down and made notes of his condition.
One entry was to the effect that his ef-must take a larger dose, which he expected would be fatal.

Professor Robin was usually an early

MONDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1912

It is now safe to go into the woods,
the hunting season closed by limitation on Saturday and the vast army
of red coated rifle bearers have returned to their homes—those of them
who were lucky enough not to be
mistaken for a deer or a red squirrel.

The bullmoosers of Hennepin
county are endeavoring to keep their organization alive and they are busy
denouncing LaFollette as the arch
enemy of progressivism. LaFollette
will probably be one of the leading candidates for the presidency in 1916
on the republican ticket, but not if
the third party advocates of Minnesota can prevent it, for without a
third party there will be no pay roll
for many of those who are loudest
in their clamor. That the LaFollette boom has started is evinced by the following news item: "Influential republicans in Cleveland, Ohio, have started a movement to make Robert M. LaFollette the republican nominee in 1916. Republicans who were prominent in support of Taft
and Roosevelt are back of the movement."

A Little Falls citizen has secured
a patent on a lawn mower that cuts
with a sickle and can be operated on
long grass and weeds as well as on well kept lawn. Now, if some one will invent a method whereby the use of
this machine, or one like it, on well
kept lawns as well as on all those
that are not now well kept, can be enforced the appearance of almost every city would be benefited. The lawn mower and the snow shovel
each need considerable push at the
respective seasons of the year to
make the premises look respectable and to give the idea to visitors within our gates that the city is inhabited by people who have some civic pride. It is some time yet before
you will have to cut your lawn again,
but the snow shovel season is about
due and pedestrians like a clean
walk.

Minneapolis has awakened to the
fact that home merchants are entitled to the trade of the people of
the city in which they live, and cite
as some of the reasons why people
should trade at home the fact that
outside concern pay no local taxes,
bear no local burdens, are in no
sense a part of the civic life and
bear none of its responsibilities, and
in "nine cases out of ten the merchandise these concerns show can be duplicated or bettered both in price
and attractiveness by our local merchants who through their payrolls
and general contributions to the activities of Minneapolis are clearly entitled to first consideration." Granted, and the same application is one that the citizens of Brainerd should consider, if the good of the city is uppermost in their minds. Enough money is sent out of this city every

month which if spent with the merchants of Brainerd would double the
output of some of our leading mercantile institutions and would add
much to the prosperity of the city.
And this, too, on the assumption that
you can get just as good for the same
money right here at home.

LAWYER PATRICK SECURES PARDON

Governor Dix of New York Frees Noted Convict.

FOUR YEARS IN DEATH HOUSE

Prisoner Was Found Guilty of the Murder of William Marsh Rice, an Aged Millionaire, and Was Sentenced to the Electric Chair in 1902—After Long Fight in Courts Patrick's Sentence Was Commuted to Life Imprisonment.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 28.—Albert T. Patrick, who is serving a life sentence in Sing Sing prison for the murder of William Marsh Rice, an aged millionaire, in New York city Sept. 23, 1900, was pardoned by Governor Dix.

Patrick, who was saved from the electric chair by the late Governor Higgins in December, 1905, has made a remarkable fight for freedom.

A lawyer by profession he protested when Governor Higgins commuted the death sentence to life imprisonment, declaring that the governor had no legal right to cancel the original sentence and impose a punishment of life imprisonment.

Governor Dix, in announcing that he had pardoned Patrick, said:

"There has always been an air of mystery in this important case. Quoting from the minority opinion of the court of appeals, 'The atmosphere that surrounded the defendant showed that a fair and impartial trial was scarcely possible.'"

"I trust that Mr. Patrick will devote his energies to a complete vindication of his declared innocence."

"During the past year I have given much consideration to this case and am convinced that the defendant is entitled to have a full pardon."

Governor Dix said Superintendent of State Prisons Scott and scores of prominent citizens appealed to him in Patrick's behalf. The pardon was mailed to Warden John S. Kennedy of Sing Sing and Patrick will be released upon its receipt.

May Lay Claim to Millions.

It is said Patrick plans to leave for St. Louis, the home of John T. Milliken, his brother-in-law, but may return later to New York as a claimant for the millions left by the aged man with whose murder he was charged. Mr. Milliken aided Patrick in his fight for freedom and, it is reported, will assist him in his efforts to prove his innocence.

At no time during his long incarceration in Sing Sing, four years of which were spent in the death house, has Patrick given up the hope of procuring his freedom. Letter after letter has been received at the executive chamber urging that he be pardoned and each successive governor since Governor Odell has been asked to extend executive clemency.

Governor Higgins was so impressed with the prisoner's plea that he granted him three respites and eventually commuted his sentence from death to life imprisonment.

Patrick was charged with having brought about the death of Mr. Rice, not by his own hand, but through the agency of Charles F. Jones, a valet employed by Rice. It was principally upon the testimony of Jones, who confessed having administered chloroform to Rice at the behest of Patrick while Rice was asleep, that Patrick was convicted.

Jones escaped punishment and has long been able to hide his identity from the public. At last reports he was said to be in Texas.

Patrick was sentenced originally April 7, 1902, to die the week commencing May 5, and was immediately taken to Sing Sing death house.

WED IN JAIL; AIDED FIGHT

Mrs. Patrick Tireless in Battle to Get Pardon.

New York, Nov. 28.—Mrs. Albert T. Patrick, the woman who married the accused murderer in the Tombs after his arrest on the charge of killing Rice, was overjoyed to learn of his pardon. She declined, however, to make a statement.

Mrs. Patrick has spent practically all her time since her wedding in trying to obtain a pardon. Through her tireless efforts numerous petitions were sent to Albany signed by thousands of Patrick's supporters. With each failure Mrs. Patrick renewed her efforts, as confident of ultimate success as the condemned man who was fighting his long legal battle from the inside of the walls of Sing Sing.

KANSAS CROPS LARGEST EVER

Value of Wheat, Corn and Oats is $770,785,666.

Topeka, Kan., Nov. 28.—Kansas crops of wheat, corn and oats this year are the largest the state ever has produced, according to the annual report of P. D. Coburn, secretary of the state board of agriculture, just issued. The present wheat prospect is 91 per cent of 7,500,000 acres. The report says:

"The combined value of Kansas wheat, corn and oats this year is $770,785,666, or about $55,000,000 more than in 1911. The next best record was in 1909, when their value was $169,262,223."

Judge Orders Acquittal.

Sedalia, Mo., Nov. 28.—"Not guilty" was the verdict returned by the jury here in the case of Mrs. Pansy Ellis Lesh, charged with the murder of Mrs. Elizabeth M. Quaintance of Greer Ridge, Mo. Judge Shain instructed the jury to acquit the woman on the ground that a confession she had made was not backed by corroborative evidence.

PREPARING BILL TO TAX INCOMES

Democrats Hope to Pass Measure at Special Session.

TWO MORE STATES MUST ACT

Thirty-four States Have Ratified the Constitutional Amendment Permitting Such Legislation and the Democratic Leaders Feel Confident That Other Legislatures Will Act Favorably During Present Winter.

Washington, Dec. 28.—That an income tax law will be passed at the special session of congress to be called in April is firmly believed by Democratic leaders arriving in Washington. They declare that the party is committed to the income tax and that the only thing that can prevent action on it, in connection with the tariff revision bills to be passed early in the new administration, will be the failure of the states to ratify the proposed constitutional amendment.

Thirty-four states have already ratified this amendment and action by only two more legislatures is needed to make it a part of the basic laws. No doubt is expressed by the leaders that of the ten state legislatures that will meet in January at least two, if not more than two, will act on the income tax amendment before the house Democrats proceed very far with their plans to change the revenue laws.

Representative Cordell Hull of Tennessee, a Democratic member of the ways and means committee, who framed the excise tax bill passed by the house at the last session, is working on the provisions of an income tax bill that will be presented early in the special session.

Hull Has Collected Data.

While Mr. Hull has not been delegated to prepare this measure in behalf of the committee it is known that the task will be assigned to him should the income tax amendment be ratified by the states in time to permit action on an income tax bill in the special session. Mr. Hull has collected data bearing on the operation of the income tax in various countries of the world and he has given exhaustive study to the subject.

The statement was made on the floor of the house repeatedly in the session last summer that the Democrats would have proposed an income tax at that time had it not been for the obstacle interposed by the decision of the supreme court declaring such a tax unconstitutional.

As a means of raising revenue, therefore, for what would be lost by the operation of certain of the Underwood tariff bills, notably the free sugar measure, an excise tax was proposed. The excise tax bill will be abandoned and in the enactment of the income tax law the corporation tax act passed on the recommendation of President Taft will be repealed.

From statements made by Democratic leaders it may be said that the income tax bill that will have consideration in the ways and means committee will propose a higher rate on "unearned incomes" than on "earned incomes." The committee is known to favor such a policy.

"KNOCKED OUT" 174 RIVALS

Magazine Articles Tell of National Cash Register Methods.

Cincinnati, Nov. 28.—That 174 rival registers have been "knocked out" in a single month; that "knockers" albums were used to show defects in other machines and that "knocker" machines were built by the National company especially to "knock out" American and Peck registers, were among the many excerpts contained in the magazine articles that were read into the court records at the trial of John H. Patterson and twenty-nine other officials or former officials of the National Cash Register company, who are charged with violating the criminal section of the Sherman anti-trust act.

"Unwritten Law" of No Avail.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—Isaac Ethnyre, who pleaded the "unwritten law" in his defense, was found guilty of manslaughter in the criminal court here for shooting and killing his wife Oct. 14, 1911.

CALEB POWERS.

Congressman Is Now Taking Bridal Trip to Washington.

CALEB POWERS IS MARRIED

Kentucky Congressman Then Starts for Washington.

Newport, Ky., Nov. 27.—Congressman Caleb Powers of Harboursville, in the Eleventh congressional district of Kentucky, was married here to Miss Anna Dorothy Kaufman of this city. The couple left immediately after the wedding for Washington.

FIRES UPON HIS PURSUERS

Duluth Bandit Creates Brief Reign of Terror.

Duluth, Nov. 28.—Max Droszewski robbed the grocery store of Anderson & Ogg and fled with about $40 taken from the till, pursued by a mob and posse of police. He fired three shots at his pursuers, scattering them in terror and driving the crowds on the street to shelter, panic-stricken.

The police kept up the pursuit and cornered the robber in a shed. He showed fight, but Patrolman Honnold hit him in the jaw and knocked him out. He was arrested and locked up.

He had entered the store and, pointing his gun at the clerk, who was alone, forced him to hand over all the money in the till.

HITCHCOCK PLANS TO SAVE $9,000,000

Would Pay Roads by Space for Carrying Mail.

Washington, Nov. 28.—Readjustment of railway mail was the subject of a conference between Postmaster General Hitchcock and representatives of several of the larger railway systems. The railways now are paid according to the weight of mail carried, while Mr. Hitchcock proposes to pay according to the amount of car space actually used.

Figures compiled at the postoffice department as to the actual cost of carrying the mails indicate that under the present system many roads are receiving an exorbitant amount, while some of the smaller lines are actually losing money.

LAWYER PATRICK SECURES PARDON

Governor Dix of New York Frees Noted Convict.

FOUR YEARS IN DEATH HOUSE

Prisoner Was Found Guilty of the Murder of William Marsh Rice, an Aged Millionaire, and Was Sentenced to the Electric Chair in 1902—After Long Fight in Courts Patrick's Sentence Was Commuted to Life Imprisonment.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 28.—Albert T. Patrick, who is serving a life sentence in Sing Sing prison for the murder of William Marsh Rice, an aged millionaire, in New York city Sept. 23, 1900, was pardoned by Governor Dix.

Patrick, who was saved from the electric chair by the late Governor Higgins in December, 1909, has made a remarkable fight for freedom.

A lawyer by profession he protested when Governor Higgins commuted the death sentence to life imprisonment, declaring that the governor had no legal right to cancel the original sentence and impose a punishment of life imprisonment.

Governor Dix, in announcing that he had pardoned Patrick, said:

"There has always been an air of mystery in this important case. Quoting from the minority opinion of the court of appeals, 'The atmosphere that surrounded the defendant showed that a fair and impartial trial was scarcely possible.'"

"I trust that Mr. Patrick will devote his energies to a complete vindication of his declared innocence."

"During the past year I have given much consideration to this case and am convinced that the defendant is entitled to have a full pardon."

Governor Dix said Superintendent of State Prisons Scott and scores of prominent citizens appealed to him in Patrick's behalf. The pardon was mailed to Warden John S. Kennedy of Sing Sing and Patrick will be released upon its receipt.

May Lay Claim to Millions.

It is said Patrick plans to leave for St. Louis, the home of John T. Milliken, his brother-in-law, but may return later to New York as a claimant for the millions left by the aged man with whose murder he was charged. Mr. Milliken aided Patrick in his fight for freedom and, it is reported, will assist him in his efforts to prove his innocence.

At no time during his long incarceration in Sing Sing, four years of which were spent in the death house, has Patrick given up the hope of procuring his freedom. Letter after letter has been received at the executive chamber urging that he be pardoned and each successive governor since Governor Odell has been asked to extend executive clemency.

Governor Higgins was so impressed with the prisoner's plea that he granted him three reprieves and eventually commuted his sentence from death to life imprisonment.

Patrick was charged with having brought about the death of Mr. Rice, not by his own hand, but through the agency of Charles F. Jones, a valet employed by Rice. It was principally upon the testimony of Jones, who confessed having administered chloroform to Rice at the behest of Patrick while Rice was asleep, that Patrick was convicted.

Jones escaped punishment and has long been able to hide his identity from the public. At last reports he was said to be in Texas.

Patrick was sentenced originally April 7, 1902, to die the week commencing May 5, and was immediately taken to Sing Sing death house.

WED IN JAIL; AIDED FIGHT

Mrs. Patrick Tireless in Battle to Get Pardon.

New York, Dec. 28.—Mrs. Albert T. Patrick, the woman who married the accused murderer in the Tombs after his arrest on the charge of killing Rice, was overjoyed to learn of his pardon. She declined, however, to make a statement.

Mrs. Patrick has spent practically all her time since her wedding in trying to obtain a pardon. Through her tireless efforts numerous petitions were sent to Albany signed by thousands of Patrick's supporters. With each failure Mrs. Patrick renewed her efforts, as confident of ultimate success as the condemned man who was fighting his long legal battle from the inside of the walls of Sing Sing.

"The combined value of Kansas wheat, corn and oats this year is $770,785,666, or about $55,000,000 more than in 1911. The next best record was in 1909, when their value was $169,262,223."

PREPARING BILL TO TAX INCOMES

Democrats Hope to Pass Measure at Special Session.

TWO MORE STATES MUST ACT

Thirty-four States Have Ratified the Constitutional Amendment Permitting Such Legislation and the Democratic Leaders Feel Confident That Other Legislatures Will Act Favorably During Present Winter.

Washington, Dec. 28.—That an income tax law will be passed at the special session of congress to be called in April is firmly believed by Democratic leaders arriving in Washington. They declare that the party is committed to the income tax and that the only thing that can prevent action on it, in connection with the tariff revision bills to be passed early in the new administration, will be the failure of the states to ratify the proposed constitutional amendment.

Thirty-four states have already ratified this amendment and action by only two more legislatures is needed to make it a part of the basic laws. No doubt is expressed by the leaders that of the ten state legislatures that will meet in January at least two, if not more than two, will act on the income tax amendment before the house Democrats proceed very far with their plans to change the revenue laws.

Representative Cordell Hull of Tennessee, a Democratic member of the ways and means committee, who framed the excise tax bill passed by the house at the last session, is working on the provisions of an income tax bill that will be presented early in the special session.

Hull Has Collected Data.

While Mr. Hull has not been delegated to prepare this measure in behalf of the committee it is known that the task will be assigned to him should the income tax amendment be ratified by the states in time to permit action on an income tax bill in the special session. Mr. Hull has collected data bearing on the operation of the income tax in various countries of the world and he has given exhaustive study to the subject.

The statement was made on the floor of the house repeatedly in the session last summer that the Democrats would have proposed an income tax at that time had it not been for the obstacle interposed by the decision of the supreme court declaring such a tax unconstitutional.

As a means of raising revenue, therefore, for what would be lost by the operation of certain of the Underwood tariff bills, notably the free sugar measure, an excise tax was proposed. The excise tax bill will be abandoned and in the enactment of the income tax law the corporation tax act passed on the recommendation of President Taft will be repealed.

From statements made by Democratic leaders it may be said that the income tax bill that will have consideration in the ways and means committee will propose a higher rate on "unearned incomes" than on "earned incomes." The committee is known to favor such a policy.

Duluth, Nov. 28.—Max Droszewski robbed the grocery store of Anderson & Ogg and fled with about $40 taken from the till, pursued by a mob and posse of police. He fired three shots at his pursuers, scattering them in terror and driving the crowds on the street to shelter, panic-stricken.

The police kept up the pursuit and cornered the robber in a shed. He showed fight, but Patrolman Honnold hit him in the jaw and knocked him out. He was arrested and locked up.

He had entered the store and, pointing his gun at the clerk, who was alone, forced him to hand over all the money in the till.

HITCHCOCK PLANS TO SAVE $9,000,000

Washington, Dec. 28.—Readjustment of railway mail was the subject of a conference between Postmaster General Hitchcock and representatives of several of the larger railway systems. Figures compiled at the postoffice department as to the actual cost of carrying the mails indicate that under the present system many roads are receiving an exorbitant amount, while some of the smaller lines are actually losing money.

SKULL FRACTURED IN BICYCLE COLLISION

Charles Geminder, Riding Wheel, Runs Into and Injures George Kuehmichel

OCCURRED SATURDAY EVENING

Streets Were Dark and Geminder Did Not See the Pedestrian on Corner 8th and Norwood

In the darkness of the night, no street lamps being visible, Charles Geminder, the Western Union messenger boy rode down Broadway on his bicycle and near the corner at Norwood street accidentally collided with George Kuehmichel, a butcher employed at McGinn & Smith's, and knocked him down on the frozen ground and fractured his skull Saturday evening.

Geminder, who is 20 years old, had just been home eating supper with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Geminder, 802 South Tenth street. Kuehmichel had left his place of employment at McGinn & Smith, at 6:30 in the evening, had eaten supper with his family at 516 South Tenth street and according to Chas. Geminder, must have been walking west on Norwood to return to work.

The messenger boy claims he was going at a slow rate of speed and was on the right side of the street and as near as he can tell the accident happened at 7:30 in the evening.

"All at once I felt that I had run into somebody," said Geminder. "I struck somebody with the front wheel. I stopped right away and went back to where the man lay in the street in the middle of the crossing. I held his head on my knee and rubbed his wrists. I called for help and when I saw a team with a couple of fellows in the wagon, I got them to take Mr. Kuehmichel home. The man had opened his eyes, but he said nothing."

The injured man was taken to his home and later to the St. Joseph's hospital. Dr. R. A. Beise was summoned and found Kuehmichel vomiting blood and blood was running out of his ears. A fracture had been sustained at the base of the skull. At first there appeared little hope for recovery and the injured man was unconscious for over 24 hours. Later he relapsed into a semi-comatose condition. He rouses himself constantly and answers questions, but does not seem to realize how the accident occurred or what struck him. Dr. Beise now holds out hopes for his recovery, providing no secondary complications like brain fever or meningitis should set in. The patient is a member of the Eagles and they are doing all they can to assist him.

Clarence Mraz, a clerk of D. A. Peterson and Joe Gabiou a clerk of Con O'Brien, saw the wounded man as he lay at the corner of Norwood and Broadway. They called Winfred Rardin's team and helped to lift the man into the wagon. Rardin took Kuehmichel to his home on Tenth street. At that time the man lay 10 feet from the Broadway curb and about 20 feet from the Norwood curb. No one was light was burning at the crossing.

Geminder had a lamp on his wheel, he claims, but it was not working good and had been extinguished.

ELKS PAY TRIBUTE TO THE DEPARTED

Past Exalted Ruler C. D. Johnson Delivers an Eloquent Address Sunday Afternoon

SERVICES AT OPERA HOUSE

Past Exalted Ruler J. J. Nolan Spoke of James Smith Who Passed Away in 1912

The annual memorial services of Brainerd lodge, No. 615, of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks were largely attended Sunday afternoon. The stage was suitably decorated in keeping with the solemnity of the occasion.

After Graham's orchestra had softly played the procession, the lodge exemplified the ritual of the opening ceremonies. "Auld Lang Syne" was sung as the opening ode. Prayer was offered in simple, eloquent manner by Rev. G. Phil Sheridan, pastor of the First Congregational church. Miss Eliza Armstrong sang in pleasing manner, "The Publican."

James Smith passed away during 1912 and in speaking of "Our Loss For 1912" Past Exalted Ruler J. J. Nolan paid a high tribute to the deceased, referred to his many endearing qualities and voiced the sympathy of the lodge at the loss of so good an Elk. Mr. Nolan spoke in a very eloquent manner and his address was given the closest attention.

The quartet, Messrs. Alderman, McCarty, Webb and Vernon, sang a touching song entitled, "The Vacant Chair."

Mrs. George D. LaBar was suffering from a severe cold and her number, a soprano solo, was not given. It was a distinct loss not to hear Mrs. LaBar as her clear, vibrant voice has been the delight of Brainerd audiences who have been favored to hear her.

Past Exalted Ruler C. D. Johnson delivered the memorial address and by many it was said to have been the best address ever delivered by the eloquent senator of this district. Col. Johnson said in part:

"We need today to refresh our memory and to remind us of the duty we owe to those brothers, who in life stood by our side, working with the same spirit, for the same purpose, the elevation and betterment of mankind."

"Those brethren who have answered the summons of the Exalted Ruler on high to report in another sphere of action—brothers whose lives you so vividly remember and whose deeds you so fondly cherish, we this day dedicate to their memory."

"It is not that they were heroes of bloody battles; it is not that they had achieved fame in life. No, but we commemorate and honor their memory because they belonged to the order of Elks. Consequently my friends it is worthy of more than a passing notice, that the humblest member in our ranks is accorded the same commemorating honor that is given that brother, who by his ability, genius or good luck, reaches a higher place in the sphere of ordinary life."

"In this order we are all equal, entitled to and receiving the same benefit, the same consideration, and when the time comes, the same homage. But, my friends, it shall not be my desire to over-exalt the splendid features of this order or magnify its field and work in the world. I simply want you to picture in your minds, if you can, what the social condition of our country would be today were there none of the great fraternal organizations in existence. Would there not be something lacking in our social intercourse, in that bond of sympathy between man, in the exercise of charity, and in all that which goes to help men better live up to the teachings of Christ—help one another—do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

"In the history of Elksdom are chronicled no glorious deeds or brilliant achievements, nor were the founders of the order men of national reputation; but in the silent practice of charity and brotherly love they have brought cheer and comfort to the helpless and needy, joy and relief to the widowed and fatherless. We give no medals for heroic work or valiant service. To be remembered by the Elks after death has played his part, one has not to become famous, lead an army to victory, paint a glittering scene upon a canvas, rank high in the field of literature, nor in any other way immortalize our names."

"Exalted Ruler, do you realize that the world has made progress during the last century than in all the preceding centuries since the beginning of time! Forces of nature heretofore hidden have been evolved by the genius of man and utilized for the benefit of the human race: the railroad, the steamship, the telephone and the wonderful development of electricity in all the world except Brainerd electricity have all been demonstrated into a practical use."

"These are the times in which we live and this the century in which was born the order of Elks. An order that from its inception has grown until today it holds within its fond embrace two hundred thousand loyal men."

"All of the fraternal societies, as far as I know, are imbued with a high and noble purpose; the best impulse of man's nature is brought out

VIOLATION OF ANTI-TRUST LAW

Special to Dispatch:

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2nd—The Supreme court today held that the Union Pacific railroad company by the acquisition of 46 per cent of the stock in the Southern Pacific company, had effected a combination in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. Justice Day, reading the opinion, indicated that the court would enter a decree to dissolve the combination and also an injunction to prevent the Union Pacific from voting the Southern Pacific's stock.

by his association with his brothers in the exercise of charity and sociability. And if men, young men especially, would join the order of Elks or any other order with the high ideas and for the purpose of seeing how much good they may do the order; not with the idea and purpose of how much good and personal advantage they can get out of the organization—then the order would have a higher rating in the standard of estimation. And with a membership of that character, to be privileged to wear the badge of an Elk would be a certificate of character commanding the respect of every society.

"Today all over this land wherever there is an order of Elks, there is being held a meeting of this kind, in commemoration of our departed brothers; and so we are assembled here today not alone for the purpose of carrying out an established practice, but because of an intuition springing from the breast of every brother Elk, that it is a duty we owe to our departed brothers."

"My friends, let me impress upon you that the B. P. O. E. is distinctively an American order; the founders of this order had in mind no allegory, no mythology, no legends or treatise or myths, to prompt them to the organizing of this great order. No, they were imbued with the idea of men uniting together for the purpose of good fellowship, good cheer, doing good deeds, and more than all an organization where charity extended to its less fortunate brothers would be its supreme virtue."

"It is an American order, inspired with patriotism, love of country and loyalty to its flag. As our country's flag is first in the hearts of loyal Americans, so is it first on our altar as loyal Elks. The stars and stripes! Ah, what inspiring thoughts cling to the memory of our flag; on its sacred folds we pledge loyalty to the teachings of Elksdom. The gentle breezes kiss the folds of no flag that can compare with it in beauty."

"Our time upon the stage of action is but brief; and while we live let us be men of honor, holding high above all other things, high as hope's great throbbing star above the darkness of the dead, the respect of virtue, the love of wife and home and friends. And I believe that men by their affiliation with this great order become imbued with higher aims in life, and the selfish spirit of our brothers is broken by the tears of the widow and the cry of the orphan."

"The faults of our brothers we write upon the sand, their virtue upon the tablets of love and memory. Splendid thought, beautiful sentiment, but less lived up to and practiced by those of us still living, it were better it had not been written in our ritual. And so my brothers, let us strive to live up to our teachings, keeping alive in memory the virtues of our brothers now dead and gone and living up to those teachings."

Former Senator S. F. Alderman sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" and the sweet tones of his harp voice thrilled the audience. The closing ceremonies of the lodge were exemplified, the closing ode sung, a benediction pronounced by Rev. G. Phil Sheridan and the audience slowly filed out to the strains of the recessional played by Graham's orchestra.

Y. M. C. A. CANVAS RAISES $3,939

Campaign Shows There is a Good Public Spirit in Brainerd and Many are Real

BOOSTERS WITH POCKET BOOKS

Solicitations to Continue Until January 1, 1913, to Raise, if Possible, $5,000

The statement of the financial canvass conducted by the Brainerd Y. M. C. A. in their debt-raising and improvement campaign is submitted herewith with a deep sense of thankfulness to God our Father and to everyone who helped win the victory.

The board of directors recognize the sacrifices some men have made to help in this campaign with both time and money and they are encouraged to plan for bigger and better things for the moral uplift of the men of Brainerd, knowing that the manhood of this city is on their side. In the agreement between the subscribers to this fund it was specified that all pledges became binding when the amount of $3,750 was pledged. It was hoped however, that an additional $1,500 might be raised for needed improvements and additional equipment.

At the closing supper of the workers on Saturday night, $140 was needed to complete the $3,750 and this was guaranteed by the workers on behalf of known friends of the association who had not yet been seen.

Those present on this occasion voted to continue the solicitation until Jan. 1st, 1913, and try if possible to round out the $5,000 which would put the association of Brainerd in good physical condition as a going plant. At noon Monday, Dec. 2nd, the report shows that 500 different men have been seen, 425 of them giving, in amounts from 10 cents to $100 and making the total subscription $3,939.

The best part of this campaign is that again there is a good public spirit shown in Brainerd and that many citizens are boosters clear down to their pocket books, believing in their public institutions, and working gladly together for the greater good.

LABOR PROBLEMS

The Profitable Employment of Labor During the Winter Season on Many Farms

The profitable employment of labor during the winter season is one of the difficult problems on many farms. Unless the scheme of farm organization is well balanced the horses needed for summer work, as well as the men, will be idle during a part of the winter. They must be fed and cared for and the money invested is costing interest all the time. Some way should be provided in which they can at least earn a part of their board. The cost of feeding the horses can often be reduced by feeding cheap forage and allowing the horses to rough it in a lot or shed. It is possible in some places to use them in hauling building material, cord wood or fence posts. So far as possible bulky farm produce should be marketed during the winter, thus using the horses when the demand for horse labor on the farm is not so pressing.

Many forms of occupation can be devised which will employ the man labor on most farms. Caring for live stock is one of the most common as well as most profitable. What the particular class of stock should be will depend on the food supply, the market facilities and the kind of labor available. The care of dairy cows may be combined with wood cutting to advantage in many cases. A flock of sheep may be purchased and fed out on cheap, rough food and some grain. A car of feeder cattle may be finished on bundle-corn, thus saving the cost of husking and at the same time providing winter occupation for labor.

The farm who has a lot of good grain or corn on hand may make good wages by preparing it for sale as seed and putting it on the market as such. A few farmers in Minnesota last winter increased the price of their seed corn from $3 to $8 and $10 a bushel by careful selection and making individual ear tests. One farmer sold $260 worth of seed corn from a sixteen-acre field in this way without depleting to any appreciable extent his supply of feed. He counted his time well spent.

Many operations usually conducted in open weather can be hastened by attention and preparation during the winter season. Machinery and harness repairs, fence and building alterations or repairs, manure hauling feed delivery and storage, and others

Vice President Elect a Scion Of Notable Virginia Family

EPIGRAMMATIC UTTERANCES OF THOMAS RILEY MARSHALL.

"Government is a necessity. It was never intended to be a luxury."
 "If a government takes more from the taxpayer than is necessary to effectively and economically conduct its business then the government is a thief, and we ought to call in the police."
 "If you want to bust a trust get a lawyer and put some fellow in the penitentiary."
 "I believe as much as any man in vested rights, but not in vested wrongs."
 "There is no money in honest politics. He who files high in office has some one holding the string to his kite."
 "Vox populi is vox Dei when the people know what they are talking about."
 "Do not tell me that the humble wage earner of today is willing to look along the vista of the years and see nothing but a pauper's grave at the end, while a few men by legislative enactments are enabled to dwell in marble halls and scatter money like drunken dukes at money dinners."
 "That people is not wise which is not just."

THOMAS RILEY MARSHALL, vice president elect, although a Hoosier by birth, is a scion of one of the oldest families of the Old Dominion. The Marshalls of Virginia, from the days of the father of the great chief justice of that name, have taken rank with the Washingtons, the Randolphs, the Lees and other families whose histories are part of the history of the state and of the country.

Tom Marshall, as he is called in Indiana, is a worthy complement to Woodrow Wilson. Like Governor Wilson, Governor Marshall is regarded as a good campaigner, and, like the president elect, he makes his most effective points in caustic and witty epigrams.

Governor Marshall was born in North Manchester, Wabash county, Ind., fifty-eight years ago. His father was Dr. Daniel M. Marshall, a physician in comfortable circumstances. His mother, who was Martha E. Patterson before her marriage, was a direct descendant of Charles Carroll of Carrollton, a signer of the Declaration of Independence.

In 1873 Marshall was graduated from the Wabash college at Crawfordsville, Ind., receiving the degree of bachelor of arts. At college he achieved a remarkable reputation for scholarship, qualifying easily for Phi Beta Kappa.

After his graduation Mr. Marshall moved to Fort Wayne and took up the study of law in the office of Judge Walter Ods. On the day he was twenty-one years old, March 14, 1875, he was admitted to the bar. Meanwhile he had settled in Columbia City, Ind., and he has made his home at Columbia City ever since.

 It was not long before Marshall began to display unusual legal ability and became a conspicuous figure in the courts of northern Indiana.

It was while playing the role of a country lawyer but for his sound common sense in refusing to run for congress on the Democratic ticket when asked to do so in 1898. He was offered the nomination, but he said no.

He was urged to run on the ground that it was his turn to be elected, as "every other decent Democrat in the district" had been, but he stood firm and said that he would not consider politics as a vocation and would not accept any nomination for a less office than governor.

Governor Marshall's friends call him a "progressive with the brakes set." He has been Indiana's governor since 1908, receiving a majority of 15,000 at the same time that the Hoosier State went for Taft by 10,000. His election was all the more noteworthy inasmuch as in 1904 Indiana had gone Republican by more than 85,000.

Not a Politician.
 The governor is a short, slender, wiry man with a keen eye. There is little of the politician about him. In fact, from the moment that he became the nominee for governor he was the despair of the party leaders throughout the state. He did his campaigning in his own way, journeying from town to town with Mrs. Marshall, and calmly telling the voters what they might expect if they elected him.

In his first term of office Marshall was handicapped by the fact that the upper house in Indiana was Republican. He made himself so popular with the people of the state, however, that they gave him in 1910 a solid Democratic legislature. It was then that he took a stand against Tom Taggart, Democratic boss of the state, on the question of choosing a United States senator—and won out. His candidate, John W. Kern, who had been Bryan's running mate in 1908, was endorsed by the Democratic state convention and later elected senator from Indiana.

Some of the more important pieces of legislation enacted during his second term were:
 Ratification of the income tax amendment through the federal constitution, a resolution for the popular election of United States senators, corrupt practice and campaign contribution publicity statute, an employers' liability law on liberal lines, abolishing workmen's waiver and the fellow servant rule, a bill authorizing railroad commissions to fix rates, child labor laws, coal storage limitations, standardization of weights and measures, sanitary inspection of schoolhouses, industrial inspection for safety of factories, mines and railroads, a law making black signals obligatory on all steam and electric railways and a bill for making uniform

THE ACCOUNTING OF PUBLIC OFFICES IN THE STATE.

In the course of many speeches Marshall has made clear his attitude on most of the great questions of the day. The general progressive views, however, do not carry him to the point of favoring the recall of judges or judicial decisions. Speaking before the convention which endorsed him for president last March, he said:
 "Lincoln held it to be the inalienable right of an unsuccessful litigant to go down to the tavern and cuss the court. It is the theory of Roosevelt that it is the right of the unsuccessful litigant to go down to the tavern and overrule the court. Bitterness of spirit and indignation at what I deem to be judicial injustice seize me. Even now I am chafing under what I conceive to be the unwarranted interference of courts with my prerogatives. But my sober judgment, looking to the permanent good of the people, compels me to insist that the courts must remain free and untrammelled; that we must seek relief through the remedy we now have and patiently await the reversal of judicial injustice. Until the provisions of our present constitution with reference to officials are tried and until graver evils arise than have thus far arisen there is but slight demand for the initiative, referendum and recall."

As to Bosses and Machines.

More recently, at Fort Wayne, in a speech before the Indiana Editorial association on "How May Constitutional Government Endure?" he stated his position with great clearness on the general proposition of representative government.

"Notwithstanding our boast, our government is not of and by and for the people," said he, "yet I make bold to say that it is still a representative democracy. Public speakers and the public press have been giving voice for twenty years to the fact that this is not a people's government, with laws to preserve the equality of mankind and to give each citizen his opportunity for honest success. It has been heralded and shouted that the bosses are in control from ocean to ocean; that their machines have taken over the politics and legislation of this country; that the bosses and their machines have prevented the people from crystallizing our great ideals into laws that could be enforced."

"To be sure, we have had bosses and we have had machine politics in America. We have had legislation which, by enactment and construction, has not tended to promote the ideal of equality and the opportunity for honest success. But it is equally true that the people, if they could only get a chance to express themselves, would declare in unmistakable terms their belief that this system was vicious; that they would smash the machines, banish the bosses and select officials who would always stand four square with the theories of the fathers."

Some of His Official Acts.

One of the acts that brought Governor Marshall into the public eye was his honoring California's requisition for John J. McNamara. At the moment there was a deal of honest doubt of McNamara's guilt, and it required no small degree of courage to surrender the man into the hands of the California authorities. Those who criticized Governor Marshall for that act at the time had good cause to revise their judgment later, when the dynamiter confessed.

Sunday baseball was another question with which he had to wrestle as governor. A bill legalizing Sunday games passed both houses and went to him for approval. Marshall was opposed to Sunday ball, but he took the stand that his personal views in the matter should not overweigh the view of a large majority of the legislators elected to make the laws. He vetoed the first bill, however, because it did not repeal a law already on the books which made Sunday baseball illegal. Whereupon the legislature redrew the bill and submitted it again. This time he signed it, notwithstanding the strong protest of the strict church element.

Marshall likes long walks and enjoys reading the literature of the ancients. In fact, reading is his chief diversion. He has the happy faculty of throwing off business cares on leaving the office.

Since taking an active part in the political affairs of Indiana he has been nicknamed "Little Tom" as a term of affection. He is as much opposed to physical culture and all needless muscular activity as was the late Mark Twain.

Governor Marshall is a Presbyterian, a trustee of Wabash college and a thirty-third degree Mason.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

"THE LINCOLN WAY."

To Mark Route Taken by Emancipator's Family in 1830.

Pursuant to an act of the Illinois legislature a preliminary investigation of the route traveled by the Lincoln family in removing from Indiana to Illinois in 1830 has been finished by Charles M. Thompson, assistant in history at the University of Illinois.

So far as Mr. Thompson was able to determine, the Lincolns crossed the Wabash river at Vincennes, Ind., and traveled on the Vincennes-St. Louis stage road to Lawrenceville, where they turned northward, passing through Palestine, York and Darwin to Paris. From Paris they appear to have followed the stage road through Charleston to Shelbyville, whence they journeyed to Decatur. The trustees of the State Historical library have this matter in charge and hope that in a short time the route, which has been called "The Lincoln way," will be determined and indicated with markers.

MENTAL ACROBATICS OF A CEYLON YOUTH.

Remarkable Feats Performed by a Boy of Sixteen.

The report from the Ceylon branch of the Royal Asiatic society at Colombo describes the remarkable mathematical feats before that body of a Tamil boy of sixteen, named Arumogan.

The youth knows no English except the names of the numerals and mathematical expressions. He is abnormal not only in mind but in body, for he has six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot. Personally, he believes that his mathematical genius is a gift of the god Subramana. He says that when he was eight years old he was taken to the Karthigay festival at Tiruparankundram and that in the night he dreamed that the god came to him and wrote the word "Mathematics" on his tongue, and that in the morning he had twelve fingers and twelve toes instead of the normal number.

At the same time, he declares, he found himself suddenly possessed of great calculating powers. Among the tests to which he was submitted by the Royal Asiatic society, all of which he responded to in five seconds or less, were the square root of 833,776—the answer to which is 914; the cube root of 274,625—65; the product of 976 and 79—77,704; and the product of 982,347 and 231. The answer to the last, which is 226,922,175, came in two seconds.

In the case of one sum given him the examiners had the wrong answer set down in writing, but the correct answer was given by the youth. Problems in compound interest, discount, exchange and other arithmetical rules were given him, but he answered all tests correctly, using only mental calculations.

From time to time the world has been startled by wonderful lightning calculators such as this. Romanoff, the French lightning calculator, is still living and has been able for years to juggle in an extraordinary fashion with figures. He can give in a moment the day of the week on which any given date fell. There died at the end of last year the famous lightning calculator known as the "Marvelous Gridith."

When discovered, at twenty-seven years of age, by a Chicago newspaper man, he was working on a farm for 50 cents daily and his board. In February, 1910, a score of professors from Harvard university tried to corner Gridith, but he gave the solution to the problems set him almost immediately after they were mentioned to him.

Giuseppe Mangiameli, when eight years of age, could solve a great variety of very difficult arithmetical problems by the mere operation of the mind. The Royal Academy of Sciences in Paris placed him in a college, but it was found that his mental calculating faculties began to diminish when he devoted himself to ordinary study. The English mathematician, Wallis, performed arithmetical operations, such as the extraction of roots to forty decimal places solely by his marvelous power of memory.

How A. W. Frater Won Out as Superior Court Judge Against a Big Field of Candidates

The Dispatch is in receipt of a letter from John T. Frater, of Seattle, Wash., describing how his brother, A. W. Frater was elected judge of the superior court there.

"A. W. Frater was elected one of nine superior court judges for King county and lead the column in the number of votes. Under the primary election law in Washington the judiciary are nominated by a first and second choice, and if there are more than four candidates in order to be elected, i. e. have no opposition in the general election, the candidate must receive more than 50 per cent of the total vote cast for judges and where none has such majority the candidates receiving the highest number of votes appear on the ticket in the order of votes received, the highest appearing first on the general ticket."

"There were 28 candidates in the primary vote and 18 on the general ticket, nine of whom were elected. Their jurisdiction is concurrent. A. W. was very fortunate and of course is gratified of the result and also with your friendly comment. His standing among the attorneys as well as litigants seems to be very satisfactory."

Lizards' Tails.
 Certain lizards are remarkable for the fragility of their tails, although this weakness is not always the drawback that may be imagined. The diamond tailed gecko, for instance, frequently owes its existence to the readiness with which its caudal appendage can be snapped off. This reptile, which will perch upon a rock head downward and tail in the air, is liable to be preyed upon by hawks. One of these formidable birds will swoop down upon a lizard and seize what it takes to be the head, but is really the tail. The brittle tail snaps off, and the gecko wriggles away, not much the worse, to grow another.

CITY OF SALONIKI HAS NOTABLE HISTORY.

Turkish Stronghold Famous In Ancient and Modern Days.

Among the European strongholds of Turkey Saloniki, which was recently captured by the Greeks, has always been conspicuous on account of its strategic position at the head of the gulf of Sofia, and is the capital of the vilayet which includes the districts of Saloniki, Serres, Drama and Monastir. The city has been described as one of the most picturesque in Europe, its houses rising in terraces from the flat shore to a height crowned by the seven towered citadel and surrounded by ancient walls and towers. The view from the gulf, with the towers and minarets soaring above the mass of buildings, is said to be unique among coastline horizons.

Remains of former civilization have long made Saloniki famous. Within the city's walls is the so called triumphal arch of Constantine, Las Incantadas, an entrance to a long destroyed hippodrome, sections of two Roman highways paved with lava, and two massive Roman gateways.

There are several churches (now mosques) of the early Christian civilization, whose decorations, still well preserved, make them important in the history of Byzantine architecture. The principal of these are known to all students of architecture as the mosques of St. Sophia, St. George and St. Demetrius. St. Sophia was probably erected by Justinian's architect, Anthemius, and it was turned into a mosque in 1589. Its casings of white marble have been copied in several recent examples of Byzantine architecture.

The prosperity of the city, achieved principally through maritime commerce, is so great that it ranks second only to Constantinople as a Turkish seaport. The splendid harbor is protected by a breakwater 1,800 feet long. The Austro-Hungarian railway system affords easy access by land with the rich valleys lying toward Belgrade, Adrianople, Sofia and Constantinople. The speech of the city is known as "Ladino," a corrupted form of Spanish introduced by the expelled Spanish Jews, who comprise more than half of the city's population.

Under the name of "Thessalonica" the town was a place of great importance to the Romans, and it is famous in connection with the early history of Christianity because of Paul's Epistles to the Thessalonians.

In 390 A. D. Saloniki was the scene of a dreadful massacre perpetrated by the command of Theodosius after the city had become a defense of the ancient civilization against barbaric invasions. Constantine repaired its port. The Slavonic tribes strove vainly to take the city throughout the seventh century. In the ninth century Simeon of Bulgaria came against it because of an effort to transfer the whole of the Bulgarian trade to its port. In 904 the Saracens took the place by storm and sold as slaves 22,000 of its inhabitants. In 1185 the Normans laid a ten day siege to the city, which ended in its capture by assault and the perpetration of nameless barbarities. In 1876 the French and German consuls at Saloniki were murdered by the Turkish populace.

James Therio, Iron River, Mich., says of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound: "This winter both my children and I were troubled with bad coughs. We used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and it promptly cured us. I can recommend it as a good cough and cold cure." Contains no opiates. H. P. Dunn, druggist.—Advt.

"Government is a necessity. It was never intended to be a luxury." "If a government takes more from the taxpayer than is necessary to effectively and economically conduct its business then the government is a thief, and we ought to call in the police." "If you want to bust a trust get a lawyer and put some fellow in the penitentiary." "I believe as much as any man in vested rights, but not in vested wrongs." "There is no money in honest politics. He who flies high in office has some one holding the string to his kite." "A fox preys on a hen when the people know what they are talking about." "Do not tell me that the humble wage earner of today is willing to look along the vista of the years and see nothing but a pauper's grave at the end, while a few men by legislative enactments are enabled to dwell in marble halls and scatter money like drunken dukes at monkey dinners." "That people is not wise which is not just."

THOMAS RILEY MARSHALL, vice president elect, although a Hoosier by birth, is a scion of one of the oldest families of the Old Dominion. The Marshalls of Virginia, from the days of the father of the great chief justice of that name, have taken rank with the Washingtons, the Randolphs, the Lees and other families whose histories are part of the history of the state and of the country.

Tom Marshall, as he is called in Indiana, is a worthy complement to Woodrow Wilson. Like Governor Wilson, Governor Marshall is regarded as a good campaigner, and, like the president elect, he makes his most effective points in caustic and witty epigrams.

Governor Marshall was born in North Manchester, Wabash county, Ind., fifty-eight years ago. His father was Dr. Daniel M. Marshall, a physician in comfortable circumstances. His mother, who was Martha E. Patterson before her marriage, was a direct descendant of Charles Carroll of Carrollton, a signer of the Declaration of Independence.

In 1873 Marshall was graduated from the Wabash college at Crawfordsville, Ind., receiving the degree of bachelor of arts. At college he achieved a remarkable reputation for scholarship, qualifying easily for Phi Beta Kappa.

After his graduation Mr. Marshall moved to Fort Wayne and took up the study of law in the office of Judge Walter Ods. On the day he was twenty-one years old, March 14, 1875, he was admitted to the bar. Meanwhile he had settled in Columbia City, Ind., and he has made his home at Columbia City ever since.

It was not long before Marshall began to display unusual legal ability and became a conspicuous figure in the courts of northern Indiana.

It was while playing the role of a country lawyer that Marshall wooed and won Miss Lois L. Kinsey of Argos, Ind., in 1895. He and his wife have been inseparable companions, though no children have been born to them.

Marshall might have remained a country lawyer but for his sound common sense in refusing to run for congress on the Democratic ticket when asked to do so in 1898. He was offered the nomination, but he said no.

He was urged to run on the ground that it was his turn to be elected, as "every other decent Democrat in the district" had been, but he stood firm and said that he would not consider politics as a vocation and would not accept any nomination for a less office than governor.

Governor Marshall's friends call him a "progressive with the brakes set." He has been Indiana's governor since 1898, receiving a majority of 15,000 at the same time that the Hoosier State went for Taft by 10,000. His election was all the more noteworthy inasmuch as in 1904 Indiana had gone Republican by more than 85,000.

Not a Politician.

The governor is a short, slender, wiry man with a keen eye. There is little of the politician about him. In fact, from the moment that he became the nominee for governor he was the despair of the party leaders throughout the state. He did his campaigning in his own way, journeying from town to town with Mrs. Marshall, and calmly telling the voters what they might expect if they elected him.

In his first term of office Marshall was handicapped by the fact that the upper house in Indiana was Republican. He made himself so popular with the people of the state, however, that they gave him in 1910 a solid Democratic legislature. It was then that he took a stand against Tom Taggart, Democratic boss of the state, on the question of choosing a United States senator and won out. His candidate, John W. Kern, who had been Bryan's running mate in 1908, was endorsed by the Democratic state convention and later elected senator from Indiana.

Some of the more important pieces of legislation enacted during his second term were:

Ratification of the income tax amendment through the federal constitution, a resolution for the popular election of United States senators, corrupt practice statute, an employers' liability law on liberal lines, abolishing workmen's waiver and the fellow servant rule, a bill authorizing railroad commissions to fix rates, child labor laws, child storage limitations, standardization of weights and measures, sanitary inspection of schoolhouses, industrial inspection for safety of factories, mines and railroad, a law making black signals obligatory on all steam and electric railways and a bill for making uniform

the accounting at public offices in the state.

In the course of many speeches Marshall has made clear his attitude on most of the great questions of the day. The general progressive views, however, do not carry him to the point of favoring the recall of judges or judicial decisions. Speaking before the convention which endorsed him for president last March, he said:

"Lincoln held it to be the inalienable right of an unsuccessful litigant to go down to the tavern and cuss the court. It is the theory of Roosevelt that it is the right of the unsuccessful litigant to go down to the tavern and overrule the court. Bitterness of spirit and indignation at what I deem to be judicial injustice seize me. Even now I am chafing under what I conceive to be the unwarranted interference of courts with my prerogatives. But my sober judgment, looking to the permanent good of the people, compels me to insist that the courts must remain free and untrammelled; that we must seek relief through the remedy we now have and patiently abide the reversal of judicial injustice. Until the provisions of our present constitution with reference to officials are tried and until graver evils arise than have thus far arisen there is but slight demand for the initiative, referendum and recall."

As to Bosses and Machines.

More recently, at Fort Wayne, in a speech before the Indiana Editorial association on "How May Constitutional Government Endure?" he stated his position with great clearness on the general proposition of representative government.

"Notwithstanding our boast, our government is not of and by and for the people," said he, "yet I make bold to say that it is still a representative democracy. Public speakers and the public press have been giving voice for twenty years to the fact that this is not a people's government, with laws to preserve the equality of mankind and to give each citizen his opportunity for honest success. It has been heralded and shouted that the bosses are in control from ocean to ocean; that their machines have taken over the politics and legislation of this country; that the bosses and their machines have prevented the people from crystallizing our great ideals into laws that could be enforced."

"To be sure, we have had bosses and we have had machine politics in America. We have had legislation which, by enactment and construction, has not tended to promote the ideal of equality and the opportunity for honest success. But it is equally true that the people, if they could only get a chance to express themselves, would declare in unmistakable terms their belief that this system was vicious—that they would smash the machines, banish the bosses and select officials who would always stand four square with the theories of the fathers."

Some of His Official Acts.

One of the acts that brought Governor Marshall into the public eye was his honoring California's requisition for John J. McNamara. At the moment there was a deal of honest doubt of McNamara's guilt, and it required no small degree of courage to surrender the man into the hands of the California authorities. Those who criticized Governor Marshall for that act at the time had good cause to revise their judgment later, when the dynamiter confessed.

Sunday baseball was another question with which he had to wrestle as governor. A bill legalizing Sunday games passed both houses and went to him for approval. Marshall was opposed to Sunday ball, but he took the stand that his personal views in the matter should not outweigh the view of a large majority of the legislators elected to make the laws. He vetoed the first bill, however, because it did not repeal a law already on the books which made Sunday baseball illegal. Whereupon the legislature redrew the bill and submitted it again. This time he signed it, notwithstanding the strong protest of the strict church element.

Marshall likes long walks and enjoys reading the literature of the ancients. In fact, reading is his chief diversion. He has the happy faculty of throwing off business cares on leaving the office.

Since taking an active part in the political affairs of Indiana he has been nicknamed "Little Tom" as a term of affection. He is as much opposed to physical culture and all needless muscular activity as was the late Mark Twain.

Governor Marshall is a Presbyterian, a trustee of Wabash college and a thirty-third degree Mason.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

"THE LINCOLN WAY."

To Mark Route Taken by Emancipator's Family in 1830.

Pursuant to an act of the Illinois legislature a preliminary investigation of the route traveled by the Lincoln family in removing from Indiana to Illinois in 1830 has been finished by Charles M. Thompson, assistant in history at the University of Illinois.

So far as Mr. Thompson was able to determine, the Lincolns crossed the Wabash river at Vincennes, Ind., and traveled on the Vincennes-St. Louis stage road to Lawrenceville, where they turned northward, passing through Palestine, York and Darwin to Paris. From Paris they appear to have followed the stage road through Charleston to Shelbyville, whence they journeyed to Decatur. The trustees of the State Historical library have this matter in charge and hope that in a short time the route, which has been called "the Lincoln way," will be determined and indicated with markers.

MENTAL ACROBATICS OF A CEYLON YOUTH.

Remarkable Feats Performed by a Boy of Sixteen.

The report from the Ceylon branch of the Royal Asiatic society at Colombo describes the remarkable mathematical feats before that body of a Tamil boy of sixteen, named Arumangam.

The youth knows no English except the names of the numerals and mathematical expressions. He is abnormal not only in mind but in body, for he has six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot. Personally, he believes that his mathematical genius is a gift of the god Subramana. He says that when he was eight years old he was taken to the Karttagay festival at Tiruparankundram and that in the night he dreamed that the god came to him and wrote the word "Mathematics" on his tongue, and that in the morning he had twelve fingers and twelve toes instead of the normal number.

At the same time, he declares, he found himself suddenly possessed of great calculating powers. Among the tests to which he was submitted by the Royal Asiatic society, all of which he responded to in five seconds or less, were the square root of 853,776—the answer to which is 924; the cube root of 274,625—65; the product of 976 and 79—77,704; and the product of 982,347 and 231. The answer to the last, which is 226,922,175, came in two seconds.

In the case of one sum given him the examiners had the wrong answer set down in writing, but the correct answer was given by the youth. Problems in compound interest, discount, exchange and other arithmetical rules were given him, but he answered all tests correctly, using only mental calculations.

From time to time the world has been startled by wonderful lightning calculators such as this. Romanoff, the French lightning calculator, is still living and has been able for years to juggle in an extraordinary fashion with figures. He can give in a moment the day of the week on any given date fell. There died at the end of last year the famous lightning calculator known as the "Marvelous Griffith."

When discovered, at twenty-seven years of age, by a Chicago newspaperman, he was working on a farm for 50 cents daily and his board. In February, 1910, a score of professors from Harvard university tried to corner Griffith, but he gave the solution to the problems set him almost immediately after they were mentioned to him.

Giacomo Mangiamelli, when eight years of age, could solve a great variety of very difficult arithmetical problems by the mere operation of the mind. The Royal Academy of Sciences in Paris placed him in a college, but it was found that his mental calculating faculties began to diminish when he devoted himself to ordinary study. The English mathematician, Wallis, performed arithmetical operations, such as the extraction of roots to forty decimal places solely by his marvelous power of memory.

BRAINERD MAN SUCCESSFUL

How A. W. Frater Won Out as Superior Court Judge Against a Big Field of Candidates

The Dispatch is in receipt of a letter from John T. Frater, of Seattle, Wash., describing how his brother, A. W. Frater was elected judge of the superior court there.

"A. W. Frater was elected one of nine superior court judges for King county and lead the column in the number of votes. Under the primary election law in Washington the judiciary are nominated by a first and second choice, and if there are more than four candidates in order to be elected, i. e. have no opposition in the general election, the candidate must receive more than 50 per cent of the total vote cast for judges and where none has such majority the candidates receiving the highest number of votes appear on the ticket in the order of votes received, the highest appearing first on the general ticket.

"There were 28 candidates in the primary vote and 18 on the general ticket, nine of whom were elected. Their jurisdiction is concurrent. A. W. was very fortunate and of course is gratified of the result and also with your friendly comment. His standing among the attorneys as well as litigants seems to be very satisfactory."

Lizards' Tails.

Certain lizards are remarkable for the fragility of their tails, although this weakness is not always the drawback that may be imagined. The diamond tailed gecko, for instance, frequently owes its existence to the readiness with which its caudal appendage can be snapped off. This reptile, which will perch upon a rock head downward and tail in the air, is liable to be preyed upon by hawks. One of these formidable birds will swoop down upon a lizard and seize what it takes to be the head, but is really the tail. The brittle tail snaps off, and the gecko wriggles away, not much the worse, to grow another.

CITY OF SALONIKI HAS NOTABLE HISTORY.

Turkish Stronghold Famous In Ancient and Modern Days.

Among the European strongholds of Turkey Saloniki, which was recently captured by the Greeks, has always been conspicuous on account of its strategic position at the head of the gulf of Saloniki. It is 140 miles south by west of Sofia, and is the capital of the vilayet which includes the districts of Saloniki, Serres, Drama and Monastir. The city has been described as one of the most picturesque in Europe, its houses rising in terraces from the flat shore to a height crowned by the seven towered citadel and surrounded by ancient walls and towers. The view from the gulf, with the towers and minarets soaring above the mass of buildings, is said to be unique among coastline horizons.

Remains of former civilization have long made Saloniki famous. Within the city's walls is the so called triumphal arch of Constantine, Las Incantadas, an entrance to a long destroyed hippodrome, sections of two Roman highways paved with lava, and two massive Roman gateways.

There are several churches (now mosques) of the early Christian civilization, whose decorations, still well preserved, make them important in the history of Byzantine architecture. The principal of these are known to all students of architecture as the mosques of St. Sophia, St. George and St. Demetrius. St. Sophia was probably erected by Justinian's architect, Anthemius, and it was turned into a mosque in 1589. Its casings of white marble have been copied in several recent examples of Byzantine architecture.

The prosperity of the city, achieved principally through maritime commerce, is so great that it ranks second only to Constantinople as a Turkish seaport. The splendid harbor is protected by a breakwater 1,800 feet long. The Austro-Hungarian railway system affords easy access by land with the rich valleys lying toward Belgrade, Adrianople, Sofia and Constantinople. The speech of the city is known as "Ladino," a corrupted form of Spanish introduced by the exiled Spanish Jews, who comprise more than half of the city's population.

Under the name of "Thessalonica" the town was a place of great importance to the Romans, and it is famous in connection with the early history of Christianity because of Paul's Epistles to the Thessalonians.

In 390 A. D. Saloniki was the scene of a dreadful massacre perpetrated by the command of Theodosius after the city had become a defense of the ancient civilization against barbaric invasions. Constantine repaired its port. The Slavonic tribes strove vainly to take the city throughout the seventh century. In the ninth century Simeon of Bulgaria came against it because of an effort to transfer the whole of the Bulgarian trade to its port. In 904 the Saracens took the place by storm and sold as slaves 22,000 of its inhabitants. In 1185 the Normans laid a ten day siege to the city, which ended in its capture by assault and the perpetration of nameless barbarities. In 1876 the French and German consuls at Saloniki were murdered by the Turkish populace.
